Many people use smartphones or emails for *communication. Although they are very useful tools to contact someone, I think *face-to-face communication is the best way to communicate with others for several reasons.

First, when you send an email to your friends, they may *misunderstand the things which you want to say. Then you have to send another email to *explain yourself. When you call your friends *in a harsh tone, they may feel you are *angry.

Second, when you talk with your friends *directly, you can see *if they don't understand the things which you are saying. If so, you can *repeat yourself or use easier words or expressions.

*Third, when you meet your friends face to face, you communicate with your *body, your eyes, and your hands. Your gestures will help them understand you better. You can look at your friends' faces and hear their *voices directly. Then you will feel that you want to communicate with your friends more. Your *relationship with them will become stronger.

*In conclusion, I believe that if you want to communicate with another person, the best way is talking face to face.
